"RAGGING" NURSES.

STORY OF A MOCK TRIAL AND SENTENCE.

A remarkable case of ragging among some of the nurses at the Tooting Bec Asylum has just come to light.

The asylum, which stands at one corner of Tooting Craveny Common, is a large and imposing red-brick building, which was only recently built by the Metropolitan Asylums Board. It has accommodation for about 700 patients, male and female, and it was opened a year ago.

Most of the patients are between 50 and 70 years of age. In the female portion, in which there are nearly 400 lunatics, there are about 70 nurses, who live in the "home" just inside the gates.

In each ward in the asylum proper there are three nurses—a head nurse, an assistant, and a third nurse. Each has a day off at stated intervals, and her place is taken by a relief nurse.

A little time ago a "relief" came into one of the wards to take the place of one of the three nurses. At about this time there had been some talk—more or less unfounded—about the treatment of some of the patients, and on the afternoon of the "reliefs" appearance it is alleged that she went to the matron and reported that the nurse whose place she was temporarily taking had been ill-treating one of the old ladies in the ward.

A MOCK TRIAL.

Inquiries were made, and in the course of an hour or so the other nurses on duty heard the story. Their work over, a council of war was held, and it was decided forthwith to pay the nurse out. One of the girls suggested a "ragging" and a mock trial in one of the bedrooms of the home.

This was adopted with a good deal of glee among some of the younger nurses, and with just a sprinkling of spite, perhaps, among some of the others.

The idea was to duck the offender, and as there was no fountain handy it was suggested that the bathroom at the end of the corridor would answer the purpose. So, when all was quiet, the bath was filled with ice-cold water, and eight nurses marched along in their stockinged feet to the bedroom where the unsuspecting victim lay.

She was fast asleep. Her room was entered silently, and the first intimation she had of what was happening was the sudden jerking away of her bedclothes.

The next moment half-a-dozen pairs of strong young arms were around her. She kicked out hard, and tried to scream, but was held firmly, and one of the girls prevented her from making much noise.

The hapless nurse was carried along the corridor and to the bathroom; but once inside the door she made more violent efforts to defend herself. She knew what her tormentors meant to do—and they told her why.

"PRISONER" GETS PARTLY FREE.

As all the eight young raggers could not crowd into the bath-room, on account of its size, the "prisoner" managed to get one leg and one arm free.

"We're going to give you a good ducking—and serve you right," cried one of the members of the court martial.

The prisoner struggled all the harder, and there was a fierce fight in the bathroom. Two or three times the resisting nurse was carried to the edge of the bath, but every time she wriggled away, exhausted and gasping.

In the final heroic struggle the prisoner's lip was rather badly cut, and the sight of the blood evidently cooled the ardor of her tormentors, for they ceased their efforts to throw her into the bath, and ended by scolding up the water in their hands and throwing it over her.

This pretty drama was carried on in the dark, so that the victim should not be able to identify any of her assailants. She recognised the voice of one of them, however, but she was game enough not to "split when the time came for explanation and dismissals.

When the "christening" was over the nurse managed to crawl away, with her mouth bleeding, her nightdress torn, and nearly fainting with fatigue.

REFUSED TO MENTION NAMES.

In the morning she went to Dr. Beresford, the medical superintendent, and told him what had happened. She refused, however, to give the names of her persecutors; but Dr. Beresford had his suspicions, and sent for two nurses, whom he taxed with the ragging.

They admitted that they had taken part in it, and the superintendent at once discharged them. They—like their victim—absolutely refused to mention names.

Upon this the six remaining nurses came forward and admitted complicity. They said if the other two girls had gone they would go. And they went.

Seen by a press representative Dr. Beresford, the medical superintendent, described the whole thing as a foolish, an unseemly, and an unfortunate occurrence. "It was absolutely necessary to dismiss the guilty nurses," he said "and that was done without the slightest delay."

The representative was informed that the nurse who was "ragged" was herself dismissed several days later. She was out on night leave and instead of returning by the gates and reporting herself in the usual manner, it is stated that she entered the Nurses' Home by crawling through one of the windows.

"If the nurse has been dismissed, all I can say is that I have not heard of it," was Dr. Beresford's only remark with regard to this incident.

ANOTHER VERSION OF THE CASE.

The current number of the Hospital gives a version of the incident. One of the dismissed nurses wrote to that journal, and gave her view of the case. Whereupon the Hospital made inquiries, and reports as follows:

"We are able to give the official statement of the case, which differs considerably from the rumors which had obtained currency. It appears that one day the week before last the medical superintendent, in the presence of the medical junior nurse preferred a request to the matron, that she might be transferred to another ward, giving as the reason that the charge and deputy-charge nurses in her ward were 'making things too hot for her.'"

"Accordingly, the medical superintendent sent for the two nurses, and, in the presence of the matron, told them that any attempt to bully their juniors would be severely dealt with. Forty-eight hours afterwards eight of the nurses repaired to the bedroom of the junior, dragged her out of bed, carried her along to the bathroom, which was closed at hand, and endeavored to give her a cold ducking. The girl resisted, so effectively that she was not immersed, only much sprinkled with water, and her lip cut in the fray."

Intimations.THE BRIGHT SIDE

of life. It is a feeling common to the majority of us that we do not get quite the amount of happiness we are entitled to. Among the countless things which tend to make us more or less miserable ill health takes first place. Hannah More said that sin was generally to be attributed to biliousness. No doubt a crippled liver with the resulting impure blood, is the cause of more mental gloom than any other single thing. And who can reckon up the fearful aggregate of pain, loss and fear arising from the many ailments and diseases which are familiar to mankind; like a vast cloud it hangs over a multitude no one can number. You can see these people everywhere. For them life can scarcely be said to have any "bright side" at all. Hence the eagerness with which they search for relief and cure. Remedies like have not attained their high position in the confidence of the people by bald assertions and boasting advertisements. They are obliged to win it by doing actually what is claimed for them. That this remedy deserves its reputation is conceded. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Nothing has such a record of success in Scrofula, Anemia, Throat and Lung Troubles, and emaciating complaints and disorders, that tend to undermine the foundations of strength and vigour. Its use helps to show life's brighter side. Dr. H. L. Reddy, B. A. M. D., L. R. C. S., Edinburgh—L. R. C. P., London,—Physician Woman's Hospital—Professor University of Bishops College, Canada, says: "I have much pleasure in stating that I have used it in cases of debility and have found it to be a very valuable remedy as well as pleasing to take." You can take it with the assurance of getting well. It never disappoints. Sold by all chemists.

WAMPOL'S PREPARATION

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1904.

PRAYA EAST RECLAMATION.

It will be matter for satisfaction to the Colony generally, and to Marine Lighthouse on the Praya East in particular, to know that the negotiations relating to the reclamation of the eastern foreshore of the Island, initiated by the Honourable Sir Paul Chater, C.M.G., and acquiesced in by the property owners, have been brought to a satisfactory issue with the exception of those relating to the boundary between the proposed scheme and the Naval and Military properties. These were still in progress at the close of last year, having proved to be very protracted and troublesome. It is evident that the Public Works authorities believe in taking time by the forelock. The head of that department in his last annual report, printed in the current number of the Gazette, states that, in consequence of the proposed construction of the electric tramway along Praya East, it was considered advisable to proceed at once with the raising of that roadway to such a level as would admit of the drains and sewers being extended hereafter across the reclamation to the New Praya front, thus obviating the taking up and relaying of the tramway at an early date. A contract for the work was let in November, a premium being offered for its speedy completion. Very satisfactory progress was made, and by the close of the year the raising was practically completed from Arsenal Street to No. 2 Police Station, whilst a considerable amount had been done on the remaining portion of the road to the eastward. The space to be occupied by the tramway was left about a foot below the finished surface of the road so as to save the filling in and subsequent digging out of material over this area. The first commencement of the actual work of reclamation is looked for with eagerness, since the completion of the scheme will render available a large area of much-needed building land, centrally situated, which is destined to provide accommodation for the working classes of the Colony and so help to relieve the acute congestion of the population now so densely huddled together in certain districts of Hongkong.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

GENERAL Ventris accidentally fractured his leg on the 12th ult. He is reported to be progressing favourably.

VERY extensive quarrying operations are now carried on, in the New Territory, notably at Chai Kwo Leng, Yee-nan and Ngau-Tau Kok.

The Governor of Foochow has sent a quantity of rifles, ammunition and some T.S. 9,000 to the Viceroy of Liang Kwang as a contribution to help him in restoring order in these provinces.

His Majesty the King has not been advised to exercise his power of disallowance with respect to the Ordinance to amend the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance, 1903, (No. 1 of 1903).

Mr. J. F. Boulton has been appointed to act as Assistant Director of Public Works on and from the 30th ultimo for so long as Mr. P. N. H. Jones is acting as Director of Public Works, or until further notice.

AN area of about four acres of land, mostly hillside, on the promontory west of Lai Chi Kok, was placed by the Colonial Government disposal of the Naval authorities in connection with the establishment of a torpedo range in that neighbourhood.

A GENERAL map of the New Territory on a scale of two inches to the mile is now being prepared. It will show all streams, roads, paths, cultivated areas and villages, the names of the latter being marked, whilst the hills will be indicated by contours.

THE number of squatters' licences on the roll at the commencement of last year was 980, representing an annual rent of $1,429 63.

H. E. the Officer Administering the Government has been pleased to provisionally appoint Mr. P. N. H. Jones, Acting Director of Public Works, to be an official member of the Executive and Legislative Councils, during the absence of Mr. W. Chatham or until further notice.

THE Board of Revenue in Peking has had the brilliant idea of collecting the taxes partly in silver and partly in gold, under the impression that they will thereby obtain a supply of the yellow metal and be able to institute a gold currency. The Throne is said to have approved this plan of financial genius.

THE firm of Adams and Armstrong have received an order from Turkey for seven torpedo boats to cost £30,000. This same firm which supplied the torpederos Mercedes and Kasuga for Japan, which passed through Colombo last month. It looks very much as if Turkey is making preparations for the war for which every Turk is longing.

THE Imperial Chinese Post Office in Lin Kung Tau and Port Edward, have been withdrawn from yesterday and all postal business in the dependency of Weihaiwei will be conducted through the British Agency at Lin Kung Tau. The Imperial Chinese Post Office in the city of Weihaiwei will be retained for the transmission of Chinese correspondence to the interior. The British Agency at Lin Kung Tau will open a branch office at Port Edward.

BY kind permission of Major Radcliff and officers of the Band of the 93rd Burma Infantry will play at the Hongkong Hotel this evening from 8 to 9.30 p.m.

A MAIL paper has the following interesting points about the Siberian railway: Number of stations on complete line, 39; rail on railway, 14,738; number of locomotives, 751; number of passenger carriages, 58; number of goods waggons, 7,743; number of mail vans, 33; miles of line in Siberia, 3,559; miles of line in Manchuria, 1,444; Moscow to Irkutsk, 8 days; Irkutsk to Manchuria (7.1 miles rail and 5.1 miles ferry), 74 hours; across Manchuria, 949 miles to Port Arthur, 77 hours; former east terminus for Vladivostok, Strelnikov; west terminus of Vladivostok railway Khabarovsk; river steamer route to connect Khabarovsk and Strelnikov, 1,340 miles; Vladivostok to London by rail (7,092 miles); 171 days.

THE JUBILEE ROAD.

Mr. W. Chatham thus describes the Jubilee Road in his annual report just published.

The road commences at Kennedy Town and traverses the southern slopes of Mount Davis and the adjoining hills to Aberdeen, opening out en route a portion of the island which has hitherto been practically inaccessible. It is 5 miles long has a width of 16 feet and is designed as a carriage road.

Leaving Kennedy Town, it rises for about a mile with gradients of 1 in 20 and 1 in 30 until it attains a height of about 180 feet above sea level; one of the conditions upon which the Military Authorities withdrew their opposition to its construction being that it should be kept 150 feet above the sea. Passing through a small gap adjoining a site acquired by the Military Authorities for gun practice, it falls at 1 in 30 until it reaches the 150 feet contour, when it is carried level round Sandy Bay to below Bisbee Villa. Another ascent at 1 in 30 is then made to a gap about 250 feet above sea level near Sassoon's Villa, at which point there is a cross road connecting it with the old road from West Point to Aberdeen, which is at a considerably greater altitude. From the gap, it again falls at the same gradient to the 150 feet contour and then runs level through the property of the Missions Etrangères. Crossing the Pokfulam Stream on a bridge of 4 arches, a little further on, it joins the old road to Aberdeen, of which a length of 800 feet has been utilized after improving the gradients. Diverging again at No. 10 Bridge, which has been widened considerably, it falls at 1 in 20 and finally terminates in close proximity to the Aberdeen Docks by joining the old road near sea level, the reason for constructing this portion being the excessively steep gradients of the latter below the bridge mentioned. The road is surfaced throughout with decomposed granite.

There are 10 bridges, all of which are built of granite masonry, with brick arches faced with granite, the spans varying from 10 to 17 feet. All bridges and retaining walls are provided with parapet walls of granite masonry, whilst other parts of the road are protected by iron railings where necessary. The pathway before referred to commences near the bridge across the main stream on the road from the Peak to Aberdeen and joins the Jubilee Road near the No. 10 Bridge already mentioned.

The work was carried out for the Committee by Messrs. Denison, Ram and Gibbs, Engineers, Mr. Li Ping being the contractor. The total expenditure, including all charges, was $15,272.27; the amount expended under the contract being $106,146. These figures include the sum of $5,245, which was paid by Government.

BREAKDOWN OF THE N.D.L. "OLDENBURG."

DEPARTURE DELAYED.

We have received the following communication, dated 1st instant, from Messrs. Melchers & Co., local agents of the N.D.L.:—
"The agent of the Norddeutscher Lloyd at Aden wired on the 30th March:—'Oldenburg cannot sail on account of shaft broken probably departure 18th April' and we would therefore kindly ask you to publish that the departure for Europe of the Imperial German Mail s.s. Oldenburg will be delayed for about three weeks."

MILITARY LANDS.

Negotiations between the Colonial Government and the Military Authorities, for an exchange of land are still proceeding. Pending a settlement, the D. P. W. reports, the Military Authorities were allowed into possession of considerable areas at Pinewood Battery, below High West Gap, and at a point on the Jubilee Road, about a mile beyond the Plague Hospital. Arrangements were also made for the construction of new Rifle Ranges behind Kowloon City under the supervision of the Royal Engineers and at the expense of the Colony. This is necessary to enable the present ranges to be relinquished with a view to the formation of the King's Park in Kowloon.

BUILDING ACTIVITY

IN THE COLONY.

In the general remarks, included in his report on Public Works, for 1903 the Director of Public Works writes:—The Naval Yard Extension and Messrs. Butterfield and Swire's shipyard works were still in progress throughout the year. In the case of the former, the sea wall and inner-wall or quay forming the pier on the north side of the Basin, a portion of the east wall of the Basin and the Murray Pier Extension and roadhead beyond it were all brought above low-water level, whilst the cofferdam enclosing the site of the graving dock was completed and the water pumped out.

In the case of the Quarry Bay Shipyard Works, the side walls of the graving dock for more than half its length were in progress and the excavation for the remaining portions well advanced, whilst the cofferdam to enclose the site of the entrance was nearing completion. Substantial progress was also made with the levelling operations, large masses of rock having been excavated and tipped to form the reclamation.

The large blocks of buildings on the Praya Reclamation between Ice House and Pedder Streets were in progress throughout the year, the triangular block at the junction of Des Vaux and Chater Roads, designated "Alexandra Buildings," being nearly completed. The south-eastern section of Princes Buildings was roofed in before the close of the year. The buildings for the Electric Tramway Power Station, on the east side of Bowington Canal, were nearly completed, and a new Chinese theatre was erected near the Gas Works, West Point. Substantial progress was made with the reclamation at Tsim Sha Tsui between Blackhead's Point and Kowloon Marine Lot 6.

JAPANESE CHILDREN.

Japanese children must be quite delightful, judging from the description given of them by a French writer, who tells us some wonderful facts about the babies of Japan. He declares that "they never cry, and never make a noise," and that Japanese children "play without quarrels and without tears." A grave, self-possessed politeness is innate with these little people, and they behave with the most irreproachable sangfroid in the presence of their elders. The love of children is a veritable cult in Japan, and the little ones are surrounded with a care and solicitude that are almost religious. A story is told of a burglar who had broken into a house, and postponed his nefarious purpose to amuse a baby who was playing by itself, and become so absorbed in his game that only at the entrance of the parents did he beat a retreat. Japanese children, we are told, are very fond of fairy tales, and several of our own familiar figures appear in their favourite stories, such as "The Ogre and Tom Thumb" and "Mother Goose." Many of these tales treat of animal, and among their records of talking beasts there is a dialogue between rabbits and crocodiles. The Japanese "recounters" shows a kindly feeling towards animals and an intense love of nature. Thus it is that children in Japan will display a keen interest in natural objects especially in flowers and insects, of which last they are invariably tender in their treatment.

Yet the question of "child labour" has assumed a phase in Japan that is fortunately rarely reached in Western countries, and heavy work of all kinds is, strange to say, exacted from children to an extent which would surprise our humanitarian ideas. Child actors and dancers, often not more than six years old, are habitually employed in the theatres, and fill the roles that we should allot to grown-up performers, with a finish and intelligence that are amazing. The little girl-dancers go through an exceptionally severe training in gymnastics to fit them for their profession. In the factories child labour is exploited to a considerable extent, children being employed for long hours at a stretch at a very low wage, while in public offices they are often engaged as porters and lacqueys at an absurdly early age, although they fulfil these functions with the utmost skill and propriety. Small wonder is it that the Japanese children are grave with a gravity far beyond their years, and take life seriously, for its burden falls early enough upon their small shoulders.

THE ATHLETIC SPORTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH." SIR,—The Committee of the V.R.C., under whose auspices the athletic sports are to be held on the Happy Valley on Monday, are surely not to be congratulated on their liberality to the men in the Fleet. On every ship on the station a list of events for the forthcoming meeting is posted, presumably with the object of notifying intending entrants of the events open to them. To the surprise of the men in the Navy all the events, with only a single exception, are reserved to members of certain specified social clubs and the V.R.C. in the Colony. The only event for which the Bluejackets are allowed to compete is a Half-mile Flat race.

Surely if the competitions are got up in any sportsmanlike spirit the sailors in H.M.'s navy should not be excluded. There are many good men among them who can run and jump and by whose admission the various events on the programme will be more keenly contested and the flat, hurdle, and bicycle races will furnish more keen competition and greater interest: aroused amongst the spectators than the tame events of past meetings were capable of exciting.

I am one, among many, who hope to see that the hint will be taken by those responsible for the getting up of these annual sports and a larger number of events, in future, thrown open to men of the Fleet.—I am, etc.,

A BLUEJACKET.

Hongkong, 2nd April, 1904.

SHORTHAND 2,000 YEARS AGO.

It will, no doubt, come as a surprise to most people that shorthand was known and practised two thousand years ago. Manilius, a contemporary of Caesar and Cicero, Virgil and Horace, asserts that some system of reporting very similar to our shorthand was in vogue in his days. Writing these words under the influence of Virgo and Mercury, he says they are:—

In shorthand skilled, where little marks compress.
Whole words—a sentence in a single letter lies;

And while the willing hand its aid affords,
Prevents the tongue to fix the falling words.
It is certainly a novel conception that Cicero's grand orations were committed to paper with as much skill as our modern stenographers boast.

THE REAL TSAR.

An anonymous writer in the March Fortnightly gives a depressing character-sketch of Nicholas II. His estimate is as follows:—

The Tsar Nicholas II is physically weak; his nerves are shattered; his will feeble. He is amiable where iron-handedness is essential. He is dependent upon a strong individuality is required. He is constantly in subjection first to one influence and then to another. He is more than usually amenable to women's control; and the fair sex has on more than one occasion exercised powerful, if not calamitous, influence upon his life.

Naturally, the history of the Imperial house is suggested as one of the causes which have operated in the formation of the present ruler's characteristics. The details are too well known to be referred to here, and, in spite of them, as it were, the writer asserts that the Emperor Nicholas "is as right-meaning, benevolent, and clement a ruler as though he did not bear upon his shoulders accumulated memories of bloodshed, malignity, and strife." The record, however, goes to explain a constitutional melancholy to which he is subject, and, furthermore, as though to emphasise his gloomy retrospect, and to continue it in his own lifetime, the disaster on the Khodynsk plain during his coronation festivities is recalled.

A brighter view of the monarch as a dignified personality is presented in the following story of his meeting with the Kaiser in the Baltic:—

The Kaiser semaphored an effusive message to the Tsar from the upper bridge of his magnificent yacht the Hohenlohe. It was couched in the following terms:—"The Admiral of the Atlantic salutes the Admiral of the Pacific." The Tsar was placed in a difficult position. If he accepted the implication the British Foreign Office might have something to say. If, on the other hand, the signal remained unanswered, discourtesy to the Kaiser was the result. I am informed that the Tsar's reply was his own idea. He simply signalled "Farewell!" The laconic rebuff to the German Emperor went round the fleets of the world, and the "Admiral of the Atlantic" will not forget the quiet snub administered to him one grey afternoon in the shallow waters of the Baltic Sea.

The Tsar dreads war, and the writer of the article attributes this feeling to his mother. The sentiment has not tended to increase his popularity, and ever since the attempt upon his life by a Japanese fanatic at O su in 1891—and the unguarded statement by the Crown Prince of Greece, "Then Nickle ran"—there has been a doubt of his personal courage, which the writer suggests is cruelly unjust. He takes no delight in outdoor sports except in cycling, and is "amusements," which are few, include photography and the occasional production of melancholy verse, but he is a hard worker in affairs of state.

The article gives the following painful description of the young ruler's general surroundings:—
The atmosphere of suspicion and gloom produced by the constant sense of impalpable danger overshadows the spirits of everyone at the Russian Court. The Tsar never knows who are his friends and who his enemies. An abiding sense of distrust is the result, and hence the passionate assertion that his Majesty feels for his wife, whose faithful counsel and patient sympathy are the bright spots in one of the saddest lives in Europe. There is considerable pathos in the terse summing-up by the author of the article: "The Tsar is a kindly, saddened, overworked, and unhappy man."

SINKING OF A PRESS BOAT

BY THE RUSSIANS.

CREW CAPTURED. THREE ESCAPED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEIHAIWEI, 31st March,
9.16 p.m.

When near the Miaotao Light-house, on the 26th inst., the Russians fired upon and sunk the s.s. Hanyer, chartered by the Osaka Asashi to serve as the despatch boat for that paper.

The crew were captured, with the exception of three who made good their escape.

THE "MANDJOUR" QUESTION

AT SHANGHAI.

(From Our Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, 31st March,
6.20 p.m.

The Mandjour question is now settled, the dismantling of the vessel having been completed to the satisfaction of the Japanese Government. The Japanese cruiser Akizushima left this morning.

In our issue of the 29th ult., we stated that, according to a Peking despatch, the Japanese Minister, Mr. Uchida, had informed the Wah-wu that his Government was not satisfied at the way the dismantling of the Mandjour in Shanghai had been conducted. In other words, it was complained that only the breech-blocks of the big guns and the ammunition had been taken out of the vessel, while other most important parts of the machinery, etc., on board were not touched. Under the circumstances therefore the Japanese Government did not consider that the Mandjour had been actually made harmless.

The War.

The Destruction of the Russian Quarantine Station at San-Shantao.

Russia having protested, through the French Minister at Tokio, against the destruction of the quarantine station at San-Shantao during the fourth attack on Port Arthur, as a violation of the Hague Convention, as previously telegraphed, Baron Komura, replying, said he was not aware of the destruction of the station, but the Hague Convention did not apply to Naval bombardments.

The French Navy.

In a lengthy debate on the condition of the French navy, M. Lockroy sharply criticized the administration of M. Pelletan. The latter repeated the points of his defence on the 16th instant. M. Combes supported M. Pelletan. The Chamber eventually passed a resolution promising that a special inquiry into the state of the affairs of the fleet will be instituted.

AN ACCIDENT AT TAIKOO.

A regrettable accident occurred yesterday evening at 9.30 at the Taikoo Sugar Refinery. Three coolies, who were working at the stacks, supplying fuel to the boiler house, were suddenly buried under a slip of descending coal. A gang at once set to work to dig out the unfortunates, and medical aid was sent for. When the bodies were recovered, life was found to be extinct; the three men having been crushed and suffocated by the weight and density of the coal.

THE WAR.

JAPANESE DIET.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

On the 29th ultimo, the Japanese Diet, by a unanimous vote, adopted the following motion:—Considering that, in her war with Russia, Japan is struggling in a just cause, the Imperial Diet accepts, with a few trifling modifications, all the propositions of the Government relative to the financial measures rendered necessary by the present conflict.

THE "MANDJOUR".

The following is a note addressed to the Japanese Consul-General, Shanghai, by Yuan Taotai of this port, as published in the Sin Wan Pao (28th ult.): Referring to your letter, requesting that prompt measures be taken to remove the navigating machines, guns, and fire arms from on board the Mandjour, and an explanation why the settlement of the question has been delayed, I beg to state that ever since telegraphically instructed by the Wai Wu Pu to find a suitable place for the armaments with the assistance of the Commissioner of Customs, many letters dwelling on the subject in question have been exchanged, which are now on file. As a suitable place could not be found in the Customs House, and the native junks were not fit for the purpose, it was then resorted to the late Fu Chi of the Kiangnan arsenal, but it was sold long ago. Under such circumstances I finally wired the Minister of the South, requesting him to send the Nanjui down here, where, after examination, the armament will be stored and sealed by the Commissioner of Customs and a special man appointed by the Minister. Whether the Mandjour had been fully disarmed or not I did not know for certain until yesterday when, in reply to my urgent letter, I heard from the Commissioner that the Russian Consul-General here expressed his objections based on the telegram received from his Minister, which did not fully set forth the point in discussion, and that in case of emergencies such as storm the ship would be placed in a precarious condition when her navigating machines are removed. I and the Russian Consul-General sent two long telegrams to Peking yesterday, addressed to the respective authorities. Besides writing to the Commissioner again on the dismantling of the Mandjour, I beg of you to order the Atkushima to leave accordingly.—Trans.

The following telegrams are from the A. C. D. News of the 28th ult.:

THE LAST ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR.

It is concluded, in reference to the engagement at Port Arthur on the 22nd instant, that the steaming out of the harbour of nine Russian men-of-war may be taken as indicating the revival of martial spirit in the Russian squadron since the arrival of Admiral Makaroff, but the gallant Admiral did not dare to engage the Japanese seriously with vessels incompletely repaired.

Admiral Togo also had no desire to come to close quarters with the Russian squadron while the latter was under cover of the land batteries. An indecisive result was inevitable.

The bombardment from Pigeon Bay by the Fuji and Yushima is believed to have had the effect desired, and it is apparent on a general view that the Russian ships are not in a position to do more than defend Port Arthur.

It is believed that the Russian squadron which steamed out to the outer harbour consisted of the battleships Pervizet (12,000 tons), Petrovsk (11,000), Pobieda (12,000), Poltava (11,000), and Sevastopol (11,000), and the cruisers Askold (7,000 tons), Bayan (8,000), Diana (7,000), and Novik (1,000).

FINDING THE FUNDS.

Tokio, 26th March.

The House of Representatives to-day adopted completely the financial war programme.

Regarding the compensation to the merchants concerned in consequence of institution of the tobacco monopoly it was feared that a scandal would ensue, and it was circulated among the members that the position of Mr. Matsuda, the President of the House of Representatives, was threatened, but the trouble was tactfully averted.

The method of compensation was modified to a proportion of the gross proceeds for three years.

THE OFFENDING "NIROKU."

Tokio, 26th March.

Mr. Akiyama, the proprietor of the Niroku Shimbu is voluntarily resigned his seat in the House, on account of the defamatory article in his paper referred to in my telegram of the 22nd inst.

THE GENEROSITY OF THE EMPEROR OF KOREA.

Tokio, 27th March.

The Emperor of Korea has contributed 100,000 yen to the Japanese Soldiers' Relief Society.

A POSSIBLE SIDELIGHT.

General Dragomiroff, a noted military authority, was summoned to St. Petersburg to assist in the war deliberations on March 5th. He severely criticised the policy pursued in the Far East by Russia, and insisted on the evacuation of Port Arthur in order to avoid greater disasters. His advice is unwelcome, and has been energetically repudiated.

ITEMS.

In spite of the severe bombardment Port Arthur is being subjected to, theatres and restaurants are open as usual with bands playing in the park.

Sir Robert Hart has required all Russians and Japanese in employ of the Imperial Maritime Customs to sign declarations of strict neutrality during the Russo-Japanese war.

It is said the Russians have landed 36 siege guns of different calibre for the defence of Newchwang and neighbourhood. Preparations to contest the landing of the Japanese go on apace, and heavy guns are being mounted at the mouth of the river. Five regiments under General Kondratovich have been told off specially to hold this point. It is true that Japanese men-of-war have been seen outside Newchwang.

BUDDHIST PRIESTS FOR THE FRONT.

Rikishi Rio Un Mukoyama Sugawa, one of Japanese pupil-monks of the Ven. H. Sumangala, Chief High Priest of Adam's Peak and Principal of Widyodaya College, Colombo, left Colombo for Japan by the last German boat. He will at once proceed to the scene of operations in the Far East, where he will be engaged in ministering to the sick and wounded, and the dying soldiers of the Japanese armies. Mr. Sugawa will represent the Buddhist priesthood of Ceylon. He is the first priest to go to the scene of operations in the yellow garb of Ceylon Rikishi. There are three other ordained Japanese monks under the High Priest, who are all residing at present at the Malakanda Temple.

A TERRIBLE FLIGHT OF LOCUSTS.

EXTRAORDINARY DETAILS.

An amazing account, which all reads like a bit of wild romance, is published in the current number of the Humbly Catholic Examiner of an extraordinary flight of locusts which visited Sataru recently.

Somewhat similar accounts of this strange and unprecedented visitation are given by other correspondents from the surrounding districts. The one which we extract is signed by H. Lithos, and dated Sataru, February 23rd.

Last week there passed over Sataru, the headquarters of the district, two or three swarms of locusts; but they were only the precursors of the terrible flight which passed through this station on the 20th and 21st inst.

On the evening of Saturday at 4 o'clock the locusts made their appearance, going from east to west; and as the evening approached myriads and myriads of these red creatures began to settle down to rest for the night. No one, however, had the slightest notion of the magnitude of the swarm or the extent of the damage they would cause during the night. The first report on Sunday morning was that the roads were blocked up by branches of trees falling across them, that the tongues from the station were detained, and that traffic was at a standstill; and the cause of all this was the locusts.

AN APPALLING SIGHT.

Every one regarded these reports as preposterous and laughed at these wild stories. At 7 a.m. the locusts started on their onward course of destruction, taking the same direction as on the previous evening. It was then that one realized the awful immensity of the flight. As the day advanced the stream swelled. The main body, thick enough to give a good shade, occupied about one mile in breadth the two wings a mile and a half each. The extent of the swarm breadthwise was about 4 miles. A perfect sheet of red locusts on the ground, a thick cloud of them passing overhead, covered by these destructive creatures, the whole place was one mass of red insects.

There were people young and old crowded in their fields to drive the locusts away by beating tin and making a hideous noise enough to frighten the devil, but they shouted and shouted until they could shout no more, and sat down exhausted gazing at the vastness, the immensity, the infinity of the flight. It was a sight truly appalling.

TREES COLLAPSE WITH WEIGHT OF INSECTS. During Sunday large trees—mango trees, wild fig-trees, pipuls, etc., varying from 10 to 20 ft. and even more in circumference—trees that had withstood successfully many a violent storm—gearing under the weight of the locusts, yielded like rubber and came down with a crash. But what is most surprising, nay, almost incredible, is that babul trees, which resist the sharp axe of the woodcutter, and even cactus, were not proof against these creatures.

There is not a single babul tree in the course followed by the locusts but is a monument with its branches hanging down broken, bearing testimony to the frightful devastation caused by them.

I can assure such of the readers of the Examiner as may be disposed to doubt the veracity of the above account that I myself had considered it chimerical and could not believe my own eyes even when I had visited the place.

NEARLY THREE MILLION TONS OF LOCUSTS.

At a most modest estimate the locusts were flying at the rate of about 7 miles an hour, and they took 8 hours in passing they must have covered about 56 miles. Where the swarm was at its densest the locusts were not less than 20 to 30 deep, i.e. 20 to 30 layers of them; but taking them on an average and allowing two square inches of space for each locust, they amount to a great deal more than a billion, that is to say, an area of 13 figures. It is impossible for any one to count these figures; for though it may seem easy to speak of them it is quite a different thing when we try to comprehend them.

We shall, therefore, employ the clock to do the counting for us. The clock makes 60 ticks every minute and hence 86,400 a day. At this rate our clock would take more than 35,643 years to accomplish this task. Let us take another instance—this time a commercial one. The locusts were found to weigh on an average 6 to a tola. Their total weight would therefore be about 2 millions and 91 thousand tons. If, after compressing them well, we had to transport them by rail it would require 3,000 G. I. P. Railway goods trains of 50 waggons each, carrying a load of 14 tons in each truck.

Ten times or possibly a hundred times the numbers given above may be nearer the truth, but what I have here endeavoured to do is to convey some slight idea what this gigantic flight was like.

A POINT OF ORDER.

At a recent meeting of the Legislative Council of Colombo, N.E. the Governor (Sir Henry Blake), referring to the first question on the Agenda, in the name of the Hon. the Mercantile Member, said he was afraid the whole of the question could not be permitted, as, according to the Standing Orders, in any question, no argument or opinion was to be offered. The purpose of a question was to obtain information and not to express opinion. Nor should a question contain arguments, inferences, implications, and epithets. He believed the hon. member would see that the latter part of his question came within that category, inasmuch as it offered an opinion.

Mr. Figg: I submit to Your Excellency's ruling, and I would ask that the first portion of the question be put.

THE NEW JAPAN.

THROUGH FRENCH EYES.

A "YELLOW RENAISSANCE."

M. Feliouen Challaye's article, "The Europeanisation of Japan," in the new number of the Revue de Paris, is of exceptional interest at this moment. In the first place, the substance of the article belies the title. M. Challaye shows that the Japanese hate and despise what Europe is pleased to call her civilization; and that their borrowings from Europe have been effected against the grain, and for the express purpose of beating vulgarising Europe with her own weapons, driving her influence in the East. Only her vanity, says M. Challaye, has led Europe to fancy that the Japanese regard Western civilization as superior to their own, and that, therefore, they are "Europeanising" themselves purposely. The Western diplomatist who described modern Japan as a "bad translation" of Europe merely shared the delusion and conceit of foreigners generally. European residents in Japan, says the author, know nothing of the country and its people, not only outside their places of business. M. Challaye has gone about among the Japanese towns and country places, lived with the people, conformed to their manner of life, and so learned to understand them. And for the Japanese M. Challaye has a great love and admiration.

To say the least, "the Japanese have retained more of old Japan than they have borrowed or wish to borrow from Europe." "The everyday life of the home is still unaffected by Europe." M. Challaye then writes a charming account of the Japanese home, with all its simplicity and fine taste—seldom lacking even in the poorest. These qualities the Japanese have not borrowed from Europe. Between the houses of the rich and those of the poor, there is a kind of resemblance—of equality—which is anything but European; and the reason is that taste is a universal quality among the Japanese. "In no country," says William Morris' golden rule, "having nothing about you but what you know to be useful and believe to be beautiful, so scrupulously followed as in Japan." Again, the Japanese have not adopted European costume. Nor do they mean to. State officials wear European dress merely because they have to be in constant communication with representatives of foreign States. In private, they exchange their frock coats and trousers for the graceful, easy attire of old Japan. "The Japanese consider our European costume inconvenient, laughable, and absurd." "Unlike Europeans and savages the Japanese wear no jewels." Then follow several pages on the three great virtues of the Japanese—cleanliness, politeness, and gaiety. As regards the first, Europe has much to learn from Japan. "The politeness of the Japanese—a sign of 'equality'—the politeness of this hierarchical East is in striking contrast with the aggressive rudeness of our democratic communities. Gentleness, cordiality are the Japanese rule. No scenes of violence. The readiness with which Europeans fly into a passion stupefies the Japanese, and appears to them to be a sign of innate coarseness. In his consideration for others a Japanese habitually refrains from making any show of his personal sorrows." I can only refer the reader to M. Challaye's pages on the quiet gaiety and the refinement of the Japanese people's ordinary recreations, of their intense appreciation of natural beauty, their love of country walks, and their association of popular festivities, "not with memories of bloody combats, as in Europe," but with the changes of the year.

TAKING STOCK OF CHRISTIANITY.

A Japanese acquaintance of mine, in one of his humorous moods, described to me how a Japanese Commissioner was dispatched to Europe to take stock of its Christianity, with a view to deciding whether the religion, as well as the ironclads, of Europe should be imported to the Island Empire. The Commissioner was so appalled by the conflict between "Christian" practice and profession that when he returned home and presented himself to the Mikado in Council he replied to his questioners with a slow, sad shake of his head. Whereupon, said my Jap, "we let the matter drop quietly, and we have stuck to our old 'hinto' religion ever since." I am reminded of my Japanese friend's irony when I read M. Challaye's passages on Japanese morals and on the three Japanese religions—Shintoism (which I may describe as a sort of civilized and developed animism, wherein nature and self, the dead and the living are indissolubly connected), Buddhism, and Confucianism—the second of which, non-theological, non-metaphysical, is little more than a rule-of-thumb code of practical morality. Buddhism of a reformed order—a sort of Protestant Buddhism—is making great progress in Japan. An interesting fact this is if taken in connection with (alleged) lead assumed by the Chinese and Japanese Buddhist hierarchy in what is called the Pan-Mongolian movement. The Christian missionaries, writes M. Challaye, make no way in Japan—though they have perfect liberty to teach and preach.

THE REVENGE OF THE EAST.

But as a matter of fact, you say Japan has borrowed from Europe, re-creating whole departments of State upon the European model. Yes, M. Challaye replies; when the Americans and the Europeans half a century ago went with their cannon to open the Japanese door, the rulers and people of Japan realised "the horrible necessity" of meeting brute force with brute force; "they saw that unless they made themselves strong in war, in trade, and in finance, their superiority in morals, art, and religion would not save them from becoming the prey of the foreigner. They saw that without military colonies that have to endure the brutal protection of European States. To preserve their own civilization they must be independent, and to be independent they must arm themselves and oppose themselves to the West with the weapons of the West. The Japanese have borrowed nothing from Europe except what has made her separate States strong and independent."

And so the Japanese have become a first-class Power, by sea and land. "Under the garb of Europe the Japanese have preserved their old endurance, spirit of discipline and self-sacrifice, love of country, contempt for death. They are realising their national ambitions. They have succeeded in subjecting Europeans to the jurisdiction of the Native Courts. Europeans are not allowed to own land in Japan. . . . There are Japanese who cherish the dream of a yellow Renaissance under Japan's leadership—who hope that after planting herself firmly in Korea, Japan will come to China's aid, educating her innumerable population, initiating her into Western methods, showing her how to make herself invulnerable by Europe, then, in union with the new China, releasing the Asiatic races from exploiting, oppressive Europe, expelling the Americans from the Philippines, the French from Indo-China, the English from India; realising, in a word, the dream of a Far East for the Far Easterns, under the protection of the Empire of the Rising Sun."

BRUTALISING EUROPEANISM.

Was there ever a dream so magnificent? Does M. Challaye believe in the possibility of its fulfilment? "If," he writes, "this dream should ever be realised, and Eastern Asia delivered from European supremacy, this would be the greatest blessing which the West herself could derive from her Europeanisation of Japan." But, however this may be, the deliverance would, in M. Challaye's estimation, be a great blessing to the Japanese themselves. In M. Challaye's view—and if I may borrow from Matthew Arnold an expression applied by him to another country and people—Japan has been barbarised, vulgarised, and brutalised by her importation of Western institutions. Japan has become a military Power on the Christian model and Japan is now, to a great extent, as M. Challaye admits, brutalised by the very "militarism" which is the most offensively conspicuous and aggressive element in the life of some European States at this hour. "The West has been infecting Japan with the hateful spirit of Jingo-Imperialism. The new Japanese industrialism—European model—is demoralising great numbers of the Japanese population. 'The condition of the workmen—and especially of the workwomen—in the Japanese factories is frightful. . . . The contrast is terrible between the joyous life of old Japan and the somber existence of the labourers of Europe.' The smoke of factories saddens, poisons the Japanese landscapes; 'the brutal regime of our industrial Europe has begun to crush the spirit of this happy Japanese race, to rob it of its joy of life.'"

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

MEN WANTED.
"It has been truly said that the great want of the age is men. Men of thought; men of action. Men who are not for sale. Men who are honest to the heart's core. Men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe; in themselves as well as others. Men whose consciences are as steady as the needle to the pole. Men who will stand for right if the heavens totter and the earth reels. Men who can tell the truth and look the world and the devil right in the eye. Men who neither swagger nor flinch. Men who can take a note rapidly. Men who can type a good letter. Men who can keep true and faithful accounts. Men who are quick of figures. Men who can speak without vulgarisms. Men with good memories. Men with good manners, whether at business or in the social circle. Men with a knowledge of another language. Men who can have courage without whistling for it, and joy without shouting to bring it. Men through whom the current of everlasting life runs still, and deep, and strong. Men too large for certain limits, and too strong for sectarian bands. Men who know their duty and do it. Men who know their place and fill it. Men who mind their own business. Men who will not lie. Men who are not too lazy to work nor too proud to be poor. When in Office, the Workshop, in the Counting House, in the Bank, in every place of trust and responsibility, we can have such men as these, we shall have a Christian civilization—the highest and best the world ever saw."

Sanitas
Unequalled
Purifying Agent
AND IS Indispensable in Hot Countries.

"Sanitas" Disinfecting Fluid is non-poisonous and non-staining, and for general or personal use is thoroughly effective.
It completely disinfects a house in which it is used, and administered internally prevents Cholera, Typhoid Fever, Dysentery, etc.

"Sanitas" Disinfecting Powder
is the best air purifier and disinfectant known, antiseptic and deodorant, and far beyond the mere disinfecting qualities and is fragrant.

"Sanitas" Eucalyptus Soap is specially recommended by the medical faculty for use in hot climates, because of its fine disinfecting qualities and its fragrance.

Kingszett's Fumigating Candles
apply the safest and most convenient means of sulphur fumigation. For the disinfection of infected places, bedding, clothing, etc.,
they are both efficacious and economical.
Destroy all insects.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the result of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, is unravelled by the scientific method, and the secrets of nature are revealed. Science has indeed made great strides during the past century, and among the by no means least important discoveries in medicine comes that of the "Sanitas" remedy, which will be found in another column. This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable of the modern remedies, and it is worthy of the attention of all those who are concerned with the health of their families.
The celebrated Lullmann and Rouse, by whom it was first introduced, and by all those who are

Hongkong.HONGKONG METEOROLOGICAL SIGNALS.

A NEW CODE.

We have received from the Hongkong Observatory a new code of meteorological signals which comes into force at Hongkong on New Year's Day. They are the same as those at present in use at Shanghai, and will be hoisted on the mast beside the time-ball at Kowloon Point for the information of masters of vessels leaving the port. They do not necessarily imply that bad weather is expected. The signals are as follows:—A cone point upwards indicates a typhoon to the North of the Colony.A cone point upwards and drum below indicates a typhoon to the North-East of the Colony.A drum indicates a typhoon to the East of the Colony.A cone point downwards and drum below indicates a typhoon to the South-East of the Colony.A cone point downwards indicates a typhoon to the South of the Colony.A cone point downwards and ball below indicates a typhoon to the South-West of the Colony.A ball indicates a typhoon to the West of the Colony.A cone point upwards and ball below indicates a typhoon to the North-West of the Colony.Red Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be more than 300 miles away from the Colony.Black Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be less than 300 miles away from the Colony.The above signals will, as heretofore, be hoisted only when typhoons exist in such positions or are moving in such directions that information regarding them is considered to be of importance to the Colony or to shipping leaving the harbour.

NIGHT SIGNALS.

Two lanterns hoisted vertically indicate bad weather in the Colony and that the wind is expected to veer.Two lanterns hoisted horizontally indicate bad weather in the Colony and that the wind is expected to back.The signals are repeated on the flagstaff of the Godown Company at Kowloon, and also,
by day only, at the Harbour Office and on 14
M's Receiving Ship.

LOCAL STORM-WARNINGS.

The Colony itself is warned of approaching typhoons by means of the Typhoon Gun placed at the foot of the mast, which is fired whenever a strong gale of wind is expected to blow here.

NOTICE BOARDS.

Notice boards are placed at:—
Joint Cable Companies' Office,
Ferry Company's Pier, Ice House Street,
Blake Pier.

Post Office.

Harbour Office.

Ferry Company's Pier, Kowloon.

WEATHER-FORECASTS and STORM-
WARNINGS are exhibited on the above boards daily about 11 a.m., and also at other hours, day or night, whenever necessary. Information of importance is also issued by "Express."THE CHINA COAST METEOROLOGICAL REGISTER is exhibited at the same places daily about noon. It contains observations made at Hongkong and at
